

Wherever you work

Whether hybrid, remote or in the office - today's working world is in a state of flux and opens for new places and ways of working. We often work concentrated at home, meetings take place with a single click anywhere and hybrid working is happening all the time. And what about phone calls?

Just where it fits!

What status does the office still have?

A different one. The office of the future needs space for coming together. Collaboration, socialising and identification – everything takes place here. Those who work in an office want to meet people, chat with them – also spontaneously, if possible. Immersed in an atmosphere that promotes different kinds of cooperation and makes a company's identity tangible.

Bringing Lounge Vibes into the office

Dauphin's new lounge solutions put these requirements in focus.

Whether agile, spontaneous or confidential – their versatility allow multifaceted landscapes for coming together and they create an atmospheric, homely ambience. The office is transformed into a "place to meet" that gains in productivity and attractiveness. Too cosy to leave.
